Much of this book was originally published by Redstockings late in 1975 under the title, Feminist Revolution. A number of articles in this version have been added by the editors. Others have been expanded or deleted at the request of the authors. Several articles were changed or omitted for legal reasons.

REDSTOCKINGS is an organization actively engaged in raising consciousness on the issues of the liberation of women. We welcome comments and criticisms.

In addition to Feminist Revolution, other literature is currently available from Redstockings of the Women's Liberation Movement, P. O. Box 1284, Stuyvesant Station, New York, N.Y. 10009

This journal is dedicated:

- to Simone de Beauvoir, the French woman who exposed male supremacy for this era, and gave us our feminism. . . .*

- and to the women and men of the black liberation movement of the U.S.A.
who taught us directly the power and beauty
of the masses of people, and so taught us the truth about women*

- to all the oppressed of this earth whose dynamism and strength is stolen for exploitation by others and who fly when they break their chains.*
